2. FURTHER ACTION

If a demand for international preliminary examination is made, this opinion will usually be considered to be a written opinion of the International Preliminary Examining Authority ("IPEA"). However, this does not apply where the applicant chooses an Authority other than this one to be the IPEA and the chosen IPEA has notified the International Bureau under Rule 66.1bis(b) that written opinions of this International Searching Authority will not be so considered.

If this opinion is, as provided above, considered to be a written opinion of the IPEA, the applicant is invited to submit to the IPEA a written reply together, where appropriate, with amendments, before the expiration of three months from the date of mailing of Form PCT/ISA/220 or before the expiration of 22 months from the priority date, whichever expires later.

For further options, see Form PCT/ISA/220.

 - c. time of filing/furnishing:
☐ contained in the international application as filed.
☐ filed together with the international application in computer readable form.
☐ furnished subsequently to this Authority for the purposes of search.
3. ☐ In addition, in the case that more than one version or copy of a sequence listing and/or table relating thereto has been filed or furnished, the required statements that the information in the subsequent or additional copies is identical to that in the application as filed or does not go beyond the application as filed, as appropriate, were furnished.

2. Novelty

The claimed subject matter is essentially concerned with imidazopyridines useful as intermediates:

- claims 1-8: imidazopyridines intermediates per se (1)
- claims 9,10: process to make intermediate (1)
- claim 11: use of intermediate (1) to make intermediate (4); needs one process step
- claim 12: use of intermediate (1) to make intermediate (1); needs 2 process steps

The intermediate of claims 1-8 seems to be novel, the closest structure is disclosed in D1 (see figure 1, formula III).

Subject matter of claims 9-12 seem also to be novel.

Therefore the claimed subject matter can be recognised as being novel.

3. Inventive step

Document D1, which is considered to represent the most relevant state of the art, discloses (cf. fig. 1, 4th and 5th step) a multistep process via intermediates IV and III) from which the subject-matter of claim 1 and pending claims differs in that the claimed intermediate contains a protecting group (PG) for one hydroxy group.

The problem to be solved by this application can be regarded as an alternative process to make tricyclic imidazopyridin derivatives.

The solution proposed in the claimed subject matter of the present application cannot be considered as involving an inventive step for the following reasons:

The prior art teaches an analogous pathway leading to the tricyclic imidazopyridine derivatives without protecting the hydroxy group directly linked to the heterocycle. This means that the protection is a secondary feature and does not influence the overwhole reaction pathway, therefore inventivity cannot be recognised for the subject matter of claims 1-12.
